To whom it may concern,

As part of the settlement I would like to see

1.) RedHats proposal upheld -> give linux to schools open source will aid students far greater than closed source...

2.) Make Microsoft adhere strictly to protocol standards delivered by others thus enhancing inter platform capabilities ie:- if they use java then it must comply 100% with the Java standards (they CANNOT! add any Microsoft specifics to any standard that is not their own) and any standards or protocols they produce MUST! be usable by all operating systems NO IF BUTS OR MAYBE'S. All inter computer related communication applications must use standards available to all operating systems (No exceptions).

3.) All programs they introduce MUST be backwards compatible with previous versions.

Or they MUST provide free of charge onsite (immediate) file conversions by microsoft staff of all and any company's files thus not forcing any company to upgrade if they choose not to.

I feel this is the only way we can allow businesses to truly interact with each other.
